BY THE ALBUQUERQUE PUBLISHING CO.

Sunday, October 8, 1882.

Five old parties drawn from the wood; white and liquor for family and medicinal use; champagne and cigars at W. E. Talbot's, the only reliable wholesale house in New Mexico.

NOTES OF NEWS.

Hon. Tranquillo Luna has somewhat recovered from his recent illness. B. Moses, always on the lookout for new mineral specimens, has fitted up another cabinet.

Every man entitled to a vote at the coming election should see that his name is on the roll.

The Atlantic and Pacific railroad company advertise for 100 men to do the grading on the new work.

The Opera House will be thrown open this evening for a grand farewell benefit to George C. Staley and Joe Nigman.

The street sprinkler man is again badly needed on the streets. Hitch up and kill this dust if you want to be considered a real blessing.

The board of registration, appointed for this precinct by the county commissioners at their last session, will meet to-morrow in the rear of Charley Robinson's sample rooms.

J. B. Randall, the architect, has addressed a letter to the trustees of the Albuquerque academy, offering his services free of charge in drawing the plans for their new school building. The offer has been accepted.

Con Caddigan is on deck again with his street cleaning brigade. It's hard to tell what would become of us, if it were not for our very efficient marshal. He should have the thanks and support of every citizen.

The Republican county convention of Valencia county was held at Las Lunas yesterday. Entire harmony characterized the proceedings from beginning to end. Colonel Francisco Chavez was nominated for the council, Amado Baca for the lower house, Patricio Luna for sheriff and M. R. Otero for clerk.

It is about time the street railway company took some little interest in the outrageous conduct of the drivers. Some of the drivers on the road along smoking in the cars, while it is of common occurrence to see females of questionable reputation, seated boldly on the front platforms, off times handling the reins.

The fire boys are erecting a building for the truck on Front street, opposite Holladay and Sangre's saloon. The lumber was furnished by the different dealers in town and Perfecto Armijo, while the nails were given by the hardware men. This is at least a move in the right direction, and should be followed up by the business men of this city.

The ladies' guild will hold an evening reception or reunion at the residence of W. K. P. Wilson, on Railroad avenue, Wednesday next, October 11. It is sincerely desired that all persons notified of one to have met at Mr. Forrester's residence will accept this as a personal invitation to be present and join the society as honorary members.

The old Maden house office and barroom has undergone an entire transformation, and last night it was opened as a saloon by Hinch Campbell. It was a glorious opening, such a one as the boys may feel proud of. The room is beautifully papered, and the bar fixtures are of the finest. Lunch was served to all comers until an early hour this morning.

The J. H. Ross troupe of colored minstrels have engaged the Opera House for Monday and Tuesday evening. This band of "laugh-makers" are well spoken of, and from their appearance they will do full justice to the name. As this is the first colored troupe visiting this city, they should have full houses and a good send off.

Court convened at 10 a. m. yesterday, Judge Bell, presiding. The case of Whitney vs. McAfee, previously reported, took up the whole of the day, and at the time of adjournment was not yet concluded. The argument in the Lapham case has been set for Monday, but will not be called until after the Whitney vs. McAfee case is given to the jury.

The Methodist conference now in session here, will this evening appoint the ministers to the churches throughout the territory. Rev. W. E. Kistler, father of Ross and Chet Kistler of the Las Vegas Optic, is likely to be sent to Albuquerque. Rev. Kistler is very highly spoken of as a divine of more than ordinary ability, and is well fitted to assume the control over a new and growing congregation. It is hoped by Methodists here that this appointment will be made.

If these boys don't have a good house: it will not be because they don't deserve it. Of all the actors, that have taken any part in the Opera House, these two men have been the most conscientious. The bill for to-night is one that will crowd the house, consisting, as it does of almost entirely local talent. Charley Robinson, P. A. Van Tassel and Sam Truer, all old showmen, will be seen on the stage. Every one should turn out and enjoy the fun.

The Montezuma opened last night in a blaze of glory. Champagne was the order of the day, and right royally it was served. W. E. Talbot, the proprietor, was at his best, and received his friends as befit the occasion. Harry Post was master of ceremonies, and the hard work he did yesterday in getting things in shape, was well repaid by the thousands of friends who were present. The Journal was not forgotten in the general jubilee. The rooms are beautifully fitted up, and do the proprietor a world of credit. Harry is the right man in the right place.

THE THIRD DAY.

The Conference Held Several Services, in Both English and Spanish.

Reports That Were Received and Essays That Were Read During the Two Sessions.

Bishop Bowman Will Preach This Morning. After Which Communion Will Be Partaken of by Those Present.

The third day of the Methodist Episcopal conference was held yesterday in the Methodist church on Lead avenue. This was probably the most interesting day that has yet passed. Below will be found a record of the proceedings:

MORNING SESSION.

Conference convened at 10 a. m., with Bishop Bowman in the chair. A hymn in Spanish was sung and prayer was offered by Rev. Bas Guitierrez. Licenses of local preachers were renewed as follows: Jos. Andrews, John Ugelow and Peter Bennett of Georgetown; D. W. Potter, of Socorro (who was also recommended for admission to an annual conference on trial); Ambrosio Gonzales, of Peralta, was stated to be an elder; Rafael C. Gallegos, late of Claveria College, was found to be on trial in the Colorado conference. The license of Pando Gonzales was renewed.

A question having been asked the bishop as to the relation that O. P. McMain sustains to this mission, it was answered as follows: "He is not a member of the mission, and so far as we can ascertain, he is not a member of the church in this territory."

Upon motion, the conference voted to hold the next session of the conference at Las Vegas, the time to be fixed by the Board of Bishops.

The auditing committee presented a report, which was read, adopted and ordered to be spread upon the minutes. The report was also, on motion, ordered to be sent to the Missionary Board.

Upon motion, the conference adjourned, to meet at 3 o'clock to take up the regular conference business.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A report of the committee on studies for native preachers was read, and upon motion, adopted.

The statistical committee reported the aggregates, and upon motion, the report was received.

The committee on education and orphanages presented a report, which, upon motion, was adopted.

A preamble and resolutions, expressing condemnation of adverse reports against an emphasizing the confidence of the conference in Rev. Thomas Harwood, was read and adopted.

WHEREAS, Certain reports have been circulated within this Territory, and are in the mission room of the church, detrimental to the integrity of Rev. Thomas Harwood, our superintendent, and

WHEREAS, Several committees—properly constituted—have investigated the grounds of complaint, and have reported no cause of accusation; and

WHEREAS, The Rev. Thomas Harwood, has faithfully served the New Mexico mission as superintendent for the last ten years with great acceptability and success, and during great sacrifice and hardship amidst extreme poverty and exposure of life and health, and

Resolved, That we as members of the Conference hereby express: 1st. Our unqualified condemnation of the slanderous attacks upon his personal character.

2d. Our implicit confidence in, and high appreciation of our superintendent, as a faithful presiding officer and worthy gospel minister of Jesus Christ.

3d. That the Secretary of this Conference forward a copy of these resolutions to the missionary secretaries.

[Signed:] D. M. BROWN, J. A. CALLEN.

Rev. Harwood addressed the conference, thanking the conference for its kindness. Resolutions of thanks were offered and passed to Bishop Bowman, the citizens, newspapers and the railroad companies. Upon motion, it was ordered that when the conference adjourned it do so to meet to-morrow evening at the close of the religious services to receive the appointments. Conference adjourned.

PERSONAL PENCILINGS.

The People Who Come To and Go From the Central City.

Capt. O. S. Crowther, superintendent of the New Mexico & Illinois Mining company, of Copper City, is in Albuquerque for a few days.

Jake Sanders, the Trinidad liquor man, is in the city, looking after customers.

Mrs. Newman, mother of Mrs. W. N. Smith, has gone to Denver to visit friends.

Elon Moore, the eating house man, came in on the Atlantic & Pacific express yesterday.

E. H. Hill, postal route agent, is in the city, a witness for the government in the Lapham case.

W. F. Jones, of the railway mail service, will be in Albuquerque until the Lapham case is disposed of.

Serapio Romero, who has been east purchasing a new stock of goods, stopped over at Las Vegas on Friday night, and was expected home last evening.

M. H. Sherman, superintendent of public schools in Arizona, came in from the south yesterday morning, and went out on the Atlantic & Pacific express, after taking breakfast at the Rio Grande.

RUSTERS RUNNING OFF CATTLE.

It is reported on reliable authority that there is a party of rustlers from Arizona near Williams, on the line of the Atlantic and Pacific railroad. From what can be learned of the gang, they have crossed the railroad a short distance east of the station of Williams, and are traveling in the direction of this Territory.

Thirty-eight head of cattle had already been stolen by them, and how many more they will run off it is hard to say. They are said to be a desperate lot of men, who would hardly stop at any obstacle that might be thrown in their way.

Captain Gamble is now in this city arranging means whereby the whole outfit may be captured and brought to justice. The captain has been on their trail for some days, and his efforts have not been entirely unsuccessful, as he has found a number of cattle straggling on along the trail.

If these thieves should come this way they may be sure that the punishment they so rightly deserve will be meted out to them.

The Editorial Convention.

The editorial convention was not a decided success last evening. But one editor, Mr. Hildreth, put in an appearance from a distance. The church, the place of meeting, was not opened or lighted up, and no convention was held. What to-day will bring forth remains to be seen. Bad management or no management at all seems to have been the cause of the failure.

The president called the convention at a time when the quarterly passes of editors had expired, and before they could be renewed. This likely has prevented all or nearly all from attending. It has been a bungling business throughout.—Las Vegas Gazette.

WHERE WERE THE POLICE?

A Large Crowd Forcing Their Way Into the "Cyclone" Grocery House.

As The Journal man was waiting up Front street yesterday morning, in search of stray items, he was somewhat startled to see a large crowd gathering in front of the "Cyclone" grocery house. Elbow room was in demand, but by dint of hard work and a good deal of pushing, the reporter managed to reach Mr. Bell, when the following conversation took place:

Reporter—Good morning, Mr. Bell. Mr. Bell—Howdy, Journal man. Reporter—How is the "CYCLONE" grocery house?

Mr. Bell—All wool and a yard wide. Reporter—Does your business continue to increase?

Mr. Bell—I should smile: all we can do.

Reporter—You have been in the grocery business for some time?

Mr. Bell—Born in it; don't know anything else.

Reporter—You have a nice stock.

Mr. Bell—We know it, and every family in Albuquerque are ascertaining the fact.

Reporter—Mr. Bell, I see you have the "best" and "don't blow."

Mr. Bell—No money in lying to the people. Facts, "facts"—truth, my boy, tells the tale.

Reporter—Good day, Mr. Bell. Mr. Bell—Call again, young man.

The Opening.

A Journal reporter passing up Front street yesterday afternoon, noticed a large number of ladies congregated in Neustadt Bro's store. He entered, and after waiting patiently for half an hour, caught Louis Neustadt while he was trying to get a breathing spell, and suggested to him that business was not pretty good, judging from the number of people in the store examining goods.

"Well," he replied, "you see this is our 'opening,' and everybody drops in to see our new stock which we have on our shelves for the first time to-day; and when they once see them they can't resist the temptation to purchase."

The reporter must have had an expression on his face about that time, which suggested to the enterprising merchant something like "ruffy," and as it is Louis' nature to convince a person of the truth of everything he says, he plied that incredulous newspaper hand through the store and showed him a few things which he pressed him with the truthfulness of the assertion first made.

The millinery department was first examined, and it was found to contain a very large assortment of the latest styles of hats, a large portion of which are imported directly from Paris. The trimmings are simply elegant and there is nothing which will compare with them in the Territory. Plumes and hat trimmings of all kinds are also on exhibition in this department, and are very attractive.

The cloak department contains elegant dolmans, and cloaks of all descriptions, and any one will surely be able to find in this selection just what they desire, no matter in what direction their tastes may run. There were handsome winter cloaks tastefully trimmed, light cloaks, silk dolmans, fur lined and trimmed, and elegant styles of the samaras lined with silk.

The dress goods department was next looked over, and the array of silks, satins, plushes, cashmeres, embroidered goods, etc., which greeted the eye was dazzling in the extreme. The French fashions in all the fashionable colors were there, as well as basket flannels and other goods of that class.

In hosiery there is probably not a better assortment to be found anywhere in the West, than in Neustadt Bro's establishment. Their French hosiery is worthy of especial mention, and they have a fine assortment of it which has been brought direct from Paris, especially for the Albuquerque trade.

Knit goods, such as skirts, jackets, hoods, etc., etc., are to be found here in almost endless profusion. Any lady will be certain to find just what she wants, as the stock was selected with the greatest care. Mr. Neustadt stated that his reporter has been in the store for a long time, and that there was nothing necessary in finishing up a dress which he did not have in stock, and the Journal man had no reason to doubt his statements. To tell the rest of the truth, it would be no more than right to say that the store of Neustadt Bro's, presents a handsome appearance. The stock is new and artistically arranged; nothing is lacking. The salesmen are always willing and anxious to show goods, no matter whether they make sales or not.

Mr. Neustadt stated that he had decided to continue his opening through to-morrow. He said that everybody might have an opportunity of seeing for themselves.
